Accessible Work for All is an Erasmus+ Project. The aim of the project is to provide information on employment regulations in Sign Language.

www.accessiblework4all.eu is a project with 4 partners from Austria, Germany, Italy and Poland. The project promotes equality, non-discrimination and diversity.

How? By providing information on employment and employment regulations in accessible or barrier-free digital formats. This means that Deaf job seekers can find support and information online in their first language – Sign Language.

As well as Austrian, German, Italian and Polish Sign Languages, we use plain text, drawings and animation to make the information easier to understand.

There are three outputs:

“Analysis and Abstract” is a digital survey, analysis and transnational report. Deaf jobseekers are asked questions about employment regulations. The survey results are analysed and summarised in a written report.

“Accessible Toolkit” is a collection of accessible information videos on employment regulations. The videos use Sign Language and plain text subtitles with drawings and visual images.

“Information is Empowerment” is a training package and digital handbook.

The training uses blended learning. Blended learning is a mix of methods using online and digital materials, as well as traditional classroom-based training.

The training will be tested by deaf job seekers.
